WESTMIDDLESEX AREA HIGH SCHOOL
WEST MIDDLESEX, PA.

Ship courtesy Strouss' Sharon Store.

The 1967 ORACLE staff have used the imagery of ships because we have compared our years at West Middlesex to a voyage toward one destination--Commencement.

We seniors are finally putting into port. From here we will be charting various new courses. As we try to fathom new waters, we will remember that it was here that we acquired our sea legs.

Some of us have had a smooth sail, others have found it rough, but we have reached the end of our voyage with the help of our teachers.

Like small tugs, our teachers have pulled us along when necessary. They knew the trip would often be slow and sometimes hazardous, but they kept the cable taut.

Before we shove off, we want to acknowledge the "right good crews" who have helped us. To the admirals of the fleet down to the seamen, we offer our gratitude for keeping us in favorable winds and for piloting us through turbulent waters.

To the classes behind us we say, "Bon Voyage!"

Those family talks were sometimes quite amazing.

Director, Mrs. Mitcheltree; Student Director, Evelyn Sweesy.

Nick Roman, Elaine Truchan, and Ray Powell await Father's whistle.

Dave Cousins and Ruth Ann Gault provide amusement for everyone.

Larry Benson is coming home! There is great rejoicing in his home town. But when he finally arrives, everyone is stunned. This boy is not Larry Benson! Yet he knows everyone by name. He knows all of Larry's favorite things. He even remembers Larry's room and his pillow that he stuffed under the sofa just before he left for the armed forces. As this drama unravels, we discover that Larry has been killed in action and that this boy, who knows so much about Larry, had absorbed Larry's homelife and memories because he had no family or memories of his own. Although matters were upset and painful, the Bensons decide to take the "new" Larry into their family, and they all return to a normal life once more.

The Staff of "The Red and White"

. . . Working to Serve the Student Body

Editor-in-Chief, Joe Sherbine.

The newspaper staff of THE RED AND WHITE is headed by Joe Sherbine, who intends to become a journalist. Joe was sent by THE SHARON HERALD to Kent for one week for a journalism convention to help editors of school newspapers. Here he was taught layout and proofreading and all that goes into making a good paper. The editors assign different articles to their own staff with the date due, which the staff has to collect frantically and have approved. THE RED AND WHITE is the one-page layout which appears in THE SHARON HERALD approximately every five weeks. The junior editor is Connie Richardson and the adviser is Mrs. Gary Mitcheltree. Other editors are: News and also Assistant Editor--Royce Ellen Barris; Feature Editor--Sharri Bennett; and Sports Editor--Olivia Meredith.
